

We are open

(and we always have been)

Throughout the pandemic, we have adapted how we work to make sure services are available at all times.

370million

general practice appointments since
March 2020 - 200million face to face

We have had fewer staff and an increased workload, but we have continued to see patients at all times.